LOCTATION: Eltham, London

When our client approached us with a dream to have a rear extension built with a vision of a black & white theme throughout the ground floor we did nothing less than satisfy their every expectation.

From the gloss true white gloss 600x600mm porcelain tiles to the high gloss Alpine white Nobilia German Kitchen complemented by Black Quarts worktops. Everything was exactly what the client has expected but more.

We then suggested to bring in that them into the hallway by repainting the staircase posts and rails which ties in beautifully with this theme.

The clients accessories/furnishing helps with the theme to bring together the interior items with a purposeful final finish in the extended area.

Small details like the pop up socket in the island along with the overhang for seating were important for the client to use freestanding electrical appliances for baking preparation whilst interacting with family and guests.

The supplied and fitted bifold doors bring the outside in with the wide opening and family gatherings are an enjoyable event where everybody can make full use of the new open space with food, drink, seating, TV, Music and the garden all combined together to create fun memories for years to come.
